

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a method and corresponding device for constructing at least one digital input signal and providing analog representation thereof, featuring a DSP, discrete output devices, and Multi Input Multi Output (MIMO) system, wherein the MIMO system, constructed from low accuracy components featuring high speed and low power, outputs the constructed analog signal equivalent to the digital input signal representation.